

The CBA is attempting to impose the federal "established business relationship" exemption on Indiana customers. I do not want them to get this exemption. Even though I have an established business relationship with someone, I do not want them making unsolicited calls trying to sell me something or entice me to desire a new product. Their phone calls are troublesome and annoying. Please do not give them this exemption.